Experience Descriptions:

Experience is a project - PMI defines a project as a temporary endeavor undertaken to create a unique product service or result. Every project creates a unique product, service or result such as: - A product that can be either a component or another item, an enhancement of an item, or an end item in itself - A service or a capability to perform a service (e.g., a business function that supports production or distribution) - An improvement in the existing product or service lines (e.g., A Six Sigma product undertaken to reduce defects) - A result, such as an outcome or document (e.g., research project that develops knowledge that can be used to determine whether a trend exists or a new process will benefit society)	Eligibility Met
Domains are included - It is required that candidates show that they led and directed the project as identified with the tasks, knowledge, and skills specific in the PMP Exam Content Outline. The PMP candidate is not required to show experience leading and directing projects in all five project domains for each project, but must have this experience within the total number of experience hours and in their project deliverable descriptions.	Eligibility Not Met
Projects are presented individually - PMI requires that projects be documented individually, regardless of the number of projects a candidate is documenting.	Eligibility Not Met
